Cyler Campbell brings more than three decades of experience in the planning and implementation of business infrastructure and project controls. His career has included a full range of project management disciplines and projects ranging from the planning, construction, and maintenance of professional sports stadiums and data centers. He also has an extensive background with semiconductor, pharmaceutical, and food & beverage manufacturing facilities.

Campbell is highly regarded by clients for his abilities in identifying and managing performance risks related to contract and change management, systems implementation, and commercial construction.

Prior to joining the 3ICC Consulting Group, he served as the COO for CEC Facilities Group in Irving, Texas. During his tenure with the firm, Campbell oversaw over $300 million in specialty subcontracting projects for the semiconductor, renewable energy, AVS, fiber optic, and general infrastructure markets.

Campbell began his career as a licensed social worker after completing his master's degree at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

He also earned an associate's degree in paramedicine from the College of Southern Nevada and served as an apprentice electrician with IBEW Local #357 in Las Vegas, NV. He also holds a 3rd degree black belt from the International Kenpo Karate Association.

Campbell is currently a member of the Project Management Institute.
